Orange CRUSH

Courtney McLeod of Right Meets Left Interior Design (rightmeetsleftdesign.com) certainly has no fear of color. Her projects—a Harlem apartment decked out with modern art, an American Cancer Society gala festooned with hot air balloons—unabashedly embrace the most vivacious hues. Here, McLeod chooses her favorite home items in orange, from sunset to tangerine.

"Inspired by Ha Long Bay in Vietnam, this handscreened wallpaper strikes a balance between strong geometric shapes and beautifully detailed floral motifs. I would use it on the ceiling of a grand entry or formal living room." Dragon flower wallpaper in orange, $225 per roll, sheilabridges.com

"I would love to see this prismatic statement piece in an all-white modern living room." XXX table, $2,532, by Johanna Grawunder for Glas Italia at archiproducts.com

"A lustworthy design classic that will never go out of style." Avalon throw blanket, $1,525, Hermès, 691 Madison Ave.

"Modern and versatile, this acrylic dish is a great way to add a pop of bright color to any decor." Candy bowl in orange, $425, alexandravonfurstenberg.com
